The Catering Place Celebrates 10th Anniversary

SUFFOLK, Virginia (August 23, 2018) – Suffolk’s long-serving catering company, The Catering Place, is proud to celebrate their 10th anniversary. The small business has grown an impressive six times their original size since the 2008 inception; they now employ a total of 30 people. Husband and wife owners Corey and Jnel Duncan work with customers from the very beginning of the event planning process in order to ensure an easy, seamless function. Their catering menu selections include everything from quick continental brunches to any type of lunch, specialty desserts and formal black – tie gala dinners. Their motto is “From home fries to black ties”, after all. Popular requests are seafood boils and southern brisket. Corey and Jnel also assist with other event resources such as DJ, audio-visual needs, custom cakes and party decorations. The Catering Place was recognized by The Hampton Roads Chamber of Commerce as Suffolk’s 2018 “Small Business of the Year”. They service southeastern Virginia on down to the Outer Banks region of North Carolina. Find them at <https://www.mycateringplace.com/>.
