Huddle House Opens First Suffolk Restaurant

SUFFOLK, Virginia (December 8, 2015) – Area residents can now enjoy “Any Meal. Any Time” with the opening of the first Huddle House restaurant in Suffolk, Virginia. The new family restaurant is located at 2872 Pruden Boulevard, adjacent to Miller’s Convenience Store. To celebrate the new operation, they are hosting a Grand Opening – Ribbon Cutting ceremony on Wednesday, December 9th at 11:30 a.m. Mayor Linda T. Johnson will be on hand for the event.

Open 24-hours a day, Huddle House serves breakfast, lunch and dinner all day. The menu offers a mix of Southern-inspired comfort food, including eggs and hash browns, grits, waffles and omelets, all made to order. Other diner-style favorites include burgers, sandwich platters and country fried steak.

“We saw a need in Suffolk for a comfortable, local place for people who crave southern home-style food,” said Steve Felson, Huddle House franchise area director. “It’s an exciting time to be a Huddle House franchisee because we can satisfy that need.”

“The Huddle House menu appeals to all ages and demographics,” commented Suffolk Mayor Linda T. Johnson. “We welcome Huddle House to Suffolk and are pleased they are expanding their brand.”

Huddle House began in 1964 and now has over 400 restaurants open or under development nationwide and is on track to open more than 100 new restaurants over the next three years. The franchise growth is across a range of market sizes, including urban areas, small towns, travel centers and convenience sites.
